Proceeds will benefit the Mercy Perinatal Recovery Network (Mercy PRN), an outpatient alcohol and drug addiction treatment program for women who are pregnant and/or who have young children. The US Surgeon General has declared Parental Substance Abuse a critical health issue affecting not only the families involved but society as a whole. Children exposed to alcohol and drugs before birth have multiple physical, mental and social needs. Substance abuse by a parent is involved in over 75% of child abuse and neglect cases. In both cases, these families require extensive assistance from the healthcare, social service, legal and educational systems for many years. Mercy PRN provides comprehensive treatment services through which women may establish lives of hope and healing for themselves and their children. 100% of your donation goes to the program and is tax deductible.
